

The NEW Auditorium at the UT Arboretum

The pastoral landscapes and vistas stretching across the rolling hills of the University of Tennessee Arboretum can create a picturesque setting for your meeting, wedding ceremony, or workshop. Our auditorium features nearly 2,000 square feet of open floor space, a beautiful stone fireplace, and exposed Douglas fir roof beams, creating a rustic park-like experience. The building has a small kitchen, restroom, electricity, water, and parking to accommodate up to fifty cars.

The UT Arboretum is a living museum, an outdoor laboratory, classroom, and a nature sanctuary—a place where people and nature interact!

- Two hundred and fifty acres and seven miles of self-guided walking tours provide access to plant collections, displays, applied research/demonstration projects, and native forests.
- Two thousand plant specimens on-site, representing over 800 species.
- Major plant collections include the Elmore Holly Collection, dwarf conifers, junipers, magnolias, viburnums, dogwoods, and rhododendrons.
- An official observation area and part of the National Watchable Wildlife Program, the Arboretum is a refuge for birds, animals, and aquatic life.
- Home to many educational outreach programs throughout the year.

The UT Arboretum Society is the nonprofit organization of volunteers furthering the objectives, programs, and projects of the UT Arboretum. Visit www.utarboretumsociety.org for more information.

The Forest Resources AgResearch and Education Center, which celebrated its fiftieth anniversary in 2014, is one of ten outdoor laboratories located throughout the state as part of the UT AgResearch system, a unit of the UT Institute of Agriculture.
